UPDATE 31ST AUGUST 2011

2012 – Will The Earth Really End Next Year?

Much has been said about the world ending next year in 2012. Many people are panicking and even getting ready for this event. We have received hundreds of emails about 2012 and our subscribers are worried about what is going to happen. Christians are predicting many things, people are talking about the Mayan Calendar ending, and there are also many strange “off the planet” type people suggesting a calamity is coming at the end of 2012. But is there any truth to all of this and the year 2012, and what is really going to happen to us all next year?

Are we all about to die in a cataclysmic event? Are we really at risk of being wiped off the face of the map for good? And should we be preparing?

As trend forecasters, we have found a lot of success in studying current trends. Right now there is no evidence that suggests we are about to see the end of the world. In fact far from it! The sad reality of this 2012 date is how wrong these people have been in the past, yet they are still gaining media attention. Unfortunately we see many more crazy unbalanced people are going to get more media attention and predict more similar events to occur for next year.

Remember Harold Camping earlier this year? He bet his house and the sheep station, that the world was going to end in May and that God would be returning to earth and blast us to kingdom come but save dear old Harold and his believers!. He gained the world’s attention, and received more press attention than a multimillion dollar company could pay for, but it was to no use. When his so called “end of the world prediction” did not play out, he mysteriously went into hiding and kept the media away.

Were we surprised? No! But there will be more Harold Camping type personalities that will come out of the shadows in the next 12 to 24 month to have their 15 minutes of fame, and spread the word on how every prediction is wrong except for their new one. I bet you can’t wait! :P

These 'end of the world' type predictions are getting long in the tooth. They have been around for many of years and still seem to find their way into mainstream news, but have any of them ever come into fruition?. No, because if they had, I would not be writing this report and you would obviously not be reading it! LOL.

We have been talking about the year 2012 for a long time. The reason is because we feel that it is going to be a very important time period. While others out there only seem to be hinting this year will be the end of us and civilization as we know it. We believe it has nothing to do with this, and the year 2012 is a much more complicated situation than anyone out there is hinting at right now.

SO WILL THE WORLD REALLY END IN 2012?

The short answer to that question is NO! Especially when you look back to the thousands of failed predictions over the last century. We are forecasting this will become a non-event. So there is no reason to panic.

If you are one of the ones out there, that think this report is nonsense and the end of the world will occur sometime in 2012 you are entitled to your opinion, but we believe there is about a 0.0001% chance of this happening next year or in the years to come. I am no mathematical genius, but I do not like those odds. ☺

The scientific evidence and complex software used to collect data seems to suggest several important events will play out in 2012, however it will not cause the end of the world, as our software is already pointing to economic and social shifts for time periods after the year 2012. So there is no real reason to panic at all.

SO WHAT WILL REALLY HAPPEN 2012 THEN?

That is an interesting question. No one really knows the future. But the reason we have been successful with our previous projections and forecasts is that we have a clear understanding what is happening in the world today. If you study the trends of today, you can sometimes hint at what might be coming tomorrow and further down the track. This in-depth research technique has worked for our company for many years.

So what are we seeing right now for the year 2012?

Our research is hinting that we are in a very complex time period right now. As we hinted at in our previous newsletter here, 2011 will be a bridging of events for the year 2012. Right now that seems to be playing out perfectly, especially with what we are seeing happen in government and also with the economy.

Over the last several years, we have been suggesting a complete collapse of the US and worldwide economies. These forecasts were laughed off by many people, but as we saw these bridging of events play out, the crash of the stockmarket back in 2008 many people are not really in the mood for laughing any more.

We still see this event play out. The U.S. governments are playing god yet again and trying to keep the economy propped up. But these actions are only going to make things worse when the US does infact have to default on its debt. That day is not too far away. It will not happen tomorrow, or by next week, but we feel this event is inevitable. The situation will be quite dire too.

While many people out there keep talking about the Mayan Calander ending, and the end of the world coming, they fail to see the real grand scale picture of what is happening right now. What exactly is this, I hear you ask???? Well it has nothing to do with the end of the world. We are forecasting that a new renaissance is coming. A waking up amongst people. There are new changes, a new financial system, new inventions and new ways of thinking coming soon. It is quite hard to comprehend right now in 2011, but that is because we are still in what we term a bridging of events phase which is playing out. The beginning, sort of like an introduction.

2012 will play a massive part in what is coming. We are only seeing small shifts in 2011, and we feel 2012 will become a much more important year historically speaking. No, the world is not going to end next year! But there will be some massive shifts that will soon come hard and fast. They might come so fast you will feel like the end is here, but we can safely say this will not be the case!!

The changes we see coming is a complete collapse in the US dollar, and financial system to make way for something new. We also feel that this is going to cause problems with food and food prices and also change the way people think and behave. These are the events that will only help shift movements in our economy and also the way our social order is structured.

These events we make reference to, are going to come in collaboration with changes that are already starting to occur. These have to do with the shifts in many areas, physically, mentally, spiritually, socially and also geographically. But we believe 2012 if going to play a more important role where by these changes will become more apparent to you and where you live.

We compare the many changes coming down the track back to the historical time when society broke free from the dark ages. A massive transformation shift that has never been seen before. It will not become apparent in the short term, but again 2012 will play the "lead in" year and soon this will become apparent to the historical shifts and developments that will start to occur.

There will be many events play out, but the most important events to take notice of will be what happens with the economy. We have been warning our subscribers of this for many years. Some people will be prepared and others who keep listening to Obama's lies will not be ready. What we are saying is that now we are in a period where Obamas lies and optimism is slowly catching up with him. If you do not see this clearly now, you will soon see what we are talking about as we welcome in the new year - 2012.

We are not telling people to panic, we are offering the truth to you, and helping others open their eyes to what we see coming down the track. There is no reason to panic, infact if you study and seek help, you can prepare and even profit in the coming years. While many people think we are just playing Dr. Doom, this is not the case, as we do see the economy recover and make way for a new type of system. But we are in the birthpangs of that right now, and you must realize the birthpangs are the most unpredictable and rocky time period of all. It can be what makes or breaks you!

Right now, we are telling our subscribers not panic just prepare any way you can and with whatever means necessary. The real shifting of sands will start to occur if our forecasts of the US dollar, global markets, and economy come to fruition. It is always wise to prepare for the worst and hope for best.

Thankyou for taking time to read our latest trends alert update.

Sincerely,

John S.
